FYI--Wanted to let you know that NOAA has been contacted by a USA Today reporter regarding the Oregon CZARA action. We are currently in dispute resolution with NWEA. Under the settlement agreement we were supposed to make a final decision by May 15, 2014. We have developed a new schedule and plan to take our action on January 30, 2015.

Received a call from Tracy Loew today. Our NOAA public affairs lead intends to return the call, using the talking points from our rollout plan (attached).
If I've missed a thread and you all have concerns with the Q&A or media thoughts, let me know. I can't recall whether we coordinated on the revisions (to reflect the passage of May 15), since they were pulled together by our Policy shop using previous materials.

Thanks, J.
